

Call for Proposals for the ASEE 129th Annual Conference & Exposition
Minneapolis, MN – June 26-29, 2022

The ASEE GRADUATE STUDIES DIVISION (GSD) is seeking submissions for the 2022 ASEE annual conference in Minneapolis, MN. The GSD is concerned with the promotion of graduate programs serving a diverse population.

Papers submitted to the Graduate Studies Division should address issues related to improving and supporting graduate education in engineering disciplines. Topics of interest include:

- Recruitment and retention of graduate students
- Programs to develop interest and provide preparation for graduate studies
- Creating diverse, inclusive and supportive graduate student communities
- Professional development of graduate students
- Mentoring of and by graduate students
- Support for graduate student overall well-being
- Innovative graduate programs – novel topics and approaches
- Online/remote/virtual delivery and non-traditional methods in graduate education
- Graduate education in engineering technology
- Assessment, evaluation and continuous improvement of graduate programs
- Research aspects of the graduate experience, including selection of thesis topics and the thesis process
- Other topics related to graduate studies

Authors should submit an abstract of about 400 - 500 words. Details for abstract submission can be found on the ASEE website (www.asee.org). Authors of accepted abstracts will be invited to prepare a draft paper for peer review to be considered for publication in the conference proceedings. All papers to be presented must be accepted for publication (publish-to-present). The Graduate Studies Division sponsors a Best Paper Award as well as a Best Student Paper Award for a paper whose primary author is a student.

Papers may be presented either in traditional presentation format or as a poster. Authors may indicate a preference for what type of presentation they prefer when they submit a paper, although the final decision will be made by the division based on the overall programming for the conference.

Panel Discussions or Special Sessions

Members who would like to propose, coordinate, or serve on panel discussions or special sessions should contact the GSD Program Chair.
